DUBLIN HIGH IS ...

3 Δ

"Nanu, Nanu"

"Best Homecoming ever!!"

"It's all so boring. . ."

"If you don't get involved, well, you just miss out, you know what I mean?"

"I'm just a wild and crazy guy!!!"

"Gotta Light?"

"The freshmen keep getting smaller."

"Who're you?"

"Why buy a yearbook, I mean it's dumb-what's in it for me? They always have dumb themes."

Scrapbook (SKRAP BOOK) N. A book with blank pages for mounting and preserving pictures and other mementos that help capture the spirit and flavor of particular times, people, and places.

The blank pages are no longer blank but have been filled with bits and pieces of the mosaic that is called Dublin High.

STRIVING, SEEKING, COLLECTING . . . . .

To be the very best, or, to just get by, are both attitudes and points of view. In some cases, as students, there is a little bit of both in our approach to our classes, groups, or problems.

But what is most important is that we all have a point of view, that each of us strives to attain in our own way the things we feel are important. This is called having Goals- things to reach out to attain, however short-term, easy, or difficult.

To attain our goals we must apply ourselves and learn basic things. These "things" we learn and put to use become our tools. To have these tools and to know how to use them is to have knowledge.

The process of acquiring the things that we find necessary to cope with- school, job, friends, and family-and more importantly, to enjoy each, is sometimes chaotic, painful, funny and down-right tiring.

But in the end, somehow it all works out and another school year passes, and in time in its' place we have left only the memories . . .

Officers, advisors, work

Thursday, at lunch, became the time for a semi-regular get together for this year's Senior class officers and their advisors.

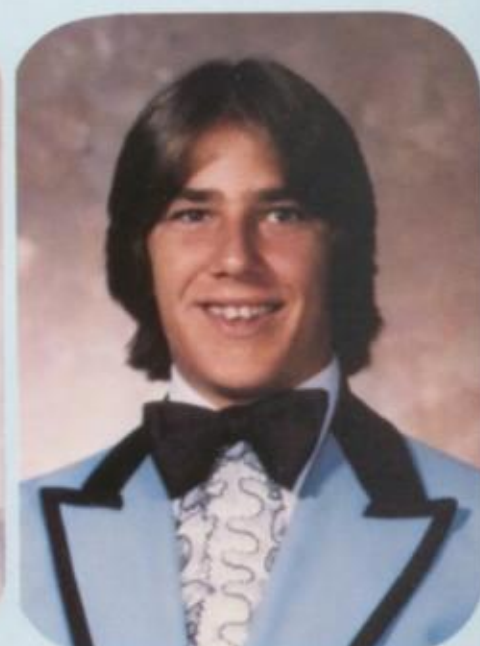

It was during these meetings that all and any Senior events that affected the class in any way, were discussed.

The ordering of caps and gowns, Senior announcements, and the planning of fund raisers were some of the tasks handled.

The officers of this year's Senior class would like to take this opportunity to thank our advisors: Mr. Parrish, Mrs. Smith and part-time advisors, Ms. Tama and Mr. Hayes. We'll Miss You . . .

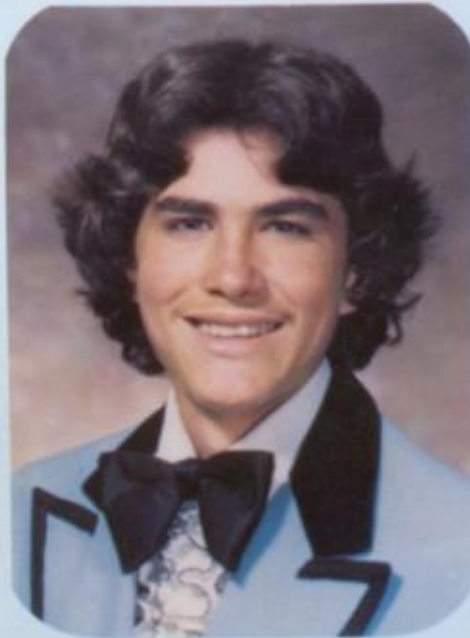

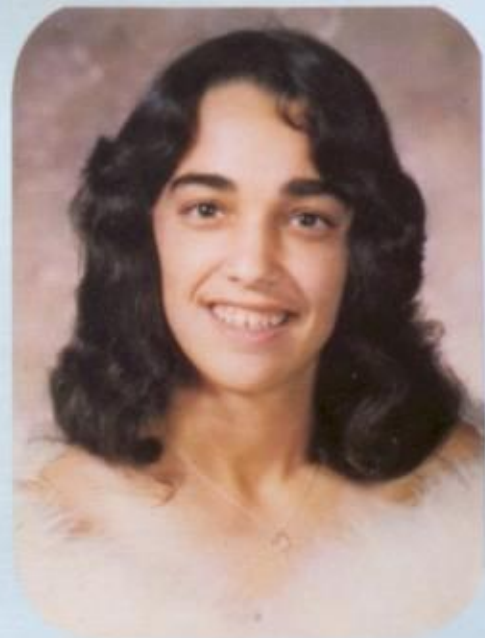

1. Agility is not a quality necessary to be a Boxerette as is proved by this year's crew: Danny Scott, Todd Boespflug, Art Bayless, Marvin Shawen, David Muth, Scott Martin, Steve Cameron and John Amador.

2. Dublin in no= 1, indicate these Dublin High students at the Omega rally.

From T-shirts to Tennies

Campus chatter is not always about school-work, football or basketball, or even about the opposite sex, but it occasionally gets serious. It is with this in mind that we now look at "fashion".

"In styles" have changed the look at DHS this year. The feathered look has curled into the frampton, pegleg has evolved from the flair and earth shoes are as old hat as spikes while loafers take the lead. But when it comes to comfort, Levi's, tees and tennies are always "in".

Homecoming, a Senior triumph

Winning it all-Numero Uno- Fantastic . . .

No matter how you look at it, the Class of 1979 did a bang up job during Homecoming. This, despite a moment or two of tension created during the Juniors' rally with "no Senior Ball" and other such provocative chants, was a total class commitment.

For those who felt that the Class of 1979 was one of "Self-Destruct", Sorry, Homecoming proved you wrong.

1. Huffing and puffing on the lawn in front of school are Seniors Steve Birt and Donny Hazelitt.

Receiving a scholarship is something most Seniors only hear about. Most Seniors don't really know how to go about getting one and feel they're not "Smart" enough to get one.

Actually, if one were to check, they'd find that though many are based on merit, the majority are given because of need.

Occasionally, counselors will call in students and encourage them to seek certain scholarships, but with the many forms, letters of recommendations to gather and deadlines to meet, most just don't apply.

There are many kinds of scholarships, such as: Athletic, Scholastic or Service and State and Private ones, as well. For those deserving Seniors who receive one ... Congratulations. It takes work and perseverance.

Fast food freaks . . .

The most popular period at DHS is without doubt lunch. Every day cars are loaded with starving Seniors. If watched closely they can be seen speeding from the parking lot heading for one of Dublin's many junk-food havens.

The diet at these places consist of such "staples" as: fries, cokes, tacos, burritos, pizzas, donuts ( not to mention the ever popular Ham-burgers available: Superburgers, cheeseburgers, quarter pounders, Big Macs, and more )-Leading to one big upset stomach.

Seniors benched, socially

One of the most popular places at Dublin High is a small area known as the "Senior Bench" or "Jock bench". It's here that groups of Seniors, (and Juniors-if they're brave) gather in large numbers, squashed together or standing up.

They can be seen before school, after school, between classes and during class. They sit and laugh, cry, eat, yell, gossip, joke, and do anything but school-work.

The Senior Bench is consistently one of the most frequented "social spots" at Dublin High.

No Senior Ball

It seems as though the Senior Class has a knack for getting in trouble. Last year word got out that the (then) Junior class was going to have a "cut day".

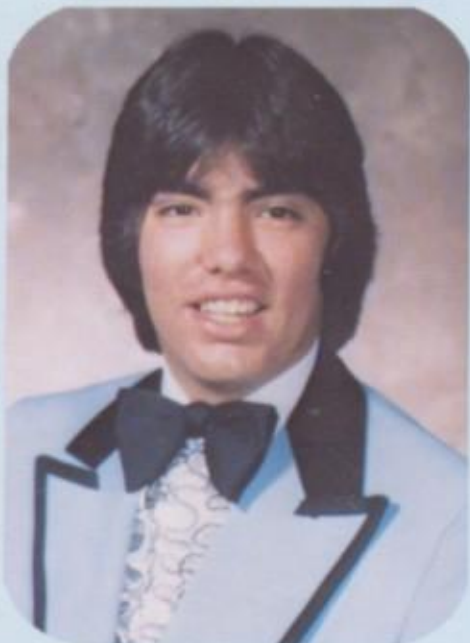

The administration then warned the class that there would be severe consequences if such action were taken.

The rest is history. No off-campus Senior Ball.

But then, there is word leaking out, again, that the Class of 1979 may have an off-campus Parent sponsored formal. Only time will tell.

Seniors Propositioned.

The evils of politics, the dark intrigue and shadowy propositions, were fair game this election season. More even than that, they were-GADS ... a requirement-Social Studies.

Right. How can any of the Seniors forget that required subject, that this year could not be finished the "easy way" in summer school? Or your favorite teacher saying, "If you don't pass this class you don't graduate!!!" ????

Answer, ... "We can't."

1. Senior Tim Pierce bones up on election propositions.

Senior Trade-off

It seems that nothing comes cheaply these days but advice. Many Seniors have been fighting the rising cost of clothes, dates, gas and upkeep of a car, by seeking jobs.

Fortunately, Dublin is the "junk food capital" of the world, and as such, jobs can be obtained by any willing and persistent person.

The price paid for these job holders is one of exchanging sports for pumping gas, frying hamburgers for a Friday dance or missing a football game to assemble a craft kit. Clearly, it's a trade-off, but the rewards are there also: some economic independence, self-confidence, experience and most of all, help in the maturing process.

1. In celebration of Mickey's Fiftieth Birthday, the Seniors chose the mouse with the mostest as their rallying theme.

Senior Picnic or not?

The past four years the Senior classes have planned a picnic only to see it fizzle out.

This year the Senior class decided to try a different approach by scheduling the picnic in the fall.

Manteca's Oakwood Lake Resort was the site chosen.

But on the last day to buy your ticket, approximately 60 Seniors had signed up, far short of the 200 required to go. Another attempt in the Spring is planned.

Trying to get a handle on One's Senior Year is just about impossible. Cliches are often used to describe the year, but they are, somehow, inadequate.

"It's the best year of your life," or "It goes by too quick," or, even "It's not what I thought it would be," tell only part of the story.

There are some truths in all such statements, but they miss the nuances, the small joys and pains, which make-up the calender from September to June.

Our Senior Class has had the good and the bad, the high hopes and dashing heartbreaks, as have the many Seniors that collectively make up the class.

Regardless of the reasons, this class has been confronted with no Senior Ball off-campus, a picnic that fizzled in the fall, a majority of the Seniors seemingly part-time students with jobs taking them away by fifth period, and a diverse grouping of students into special interest groups that at times struggled against each other.

But, miraculously, at the same time a cohesiveness was established that tended to negate the problems and individual thinking, and to bind the class together.

This was most evident during Homecoming where the class put it all together to win Best Decoration, Rally, Float and Combined Spirit.

Doing it together-showing a spirit of co-operation, is the legacy the Class of 1979 leaves behind.

HOMEcoming

HOMECOMING!!!

Dublin Welcomes Disney

The week that was ...

A great week ...

A Dublin victory (the first Homecoming victory in years) ...

A new King and Queen ...

Beautiful floats ...

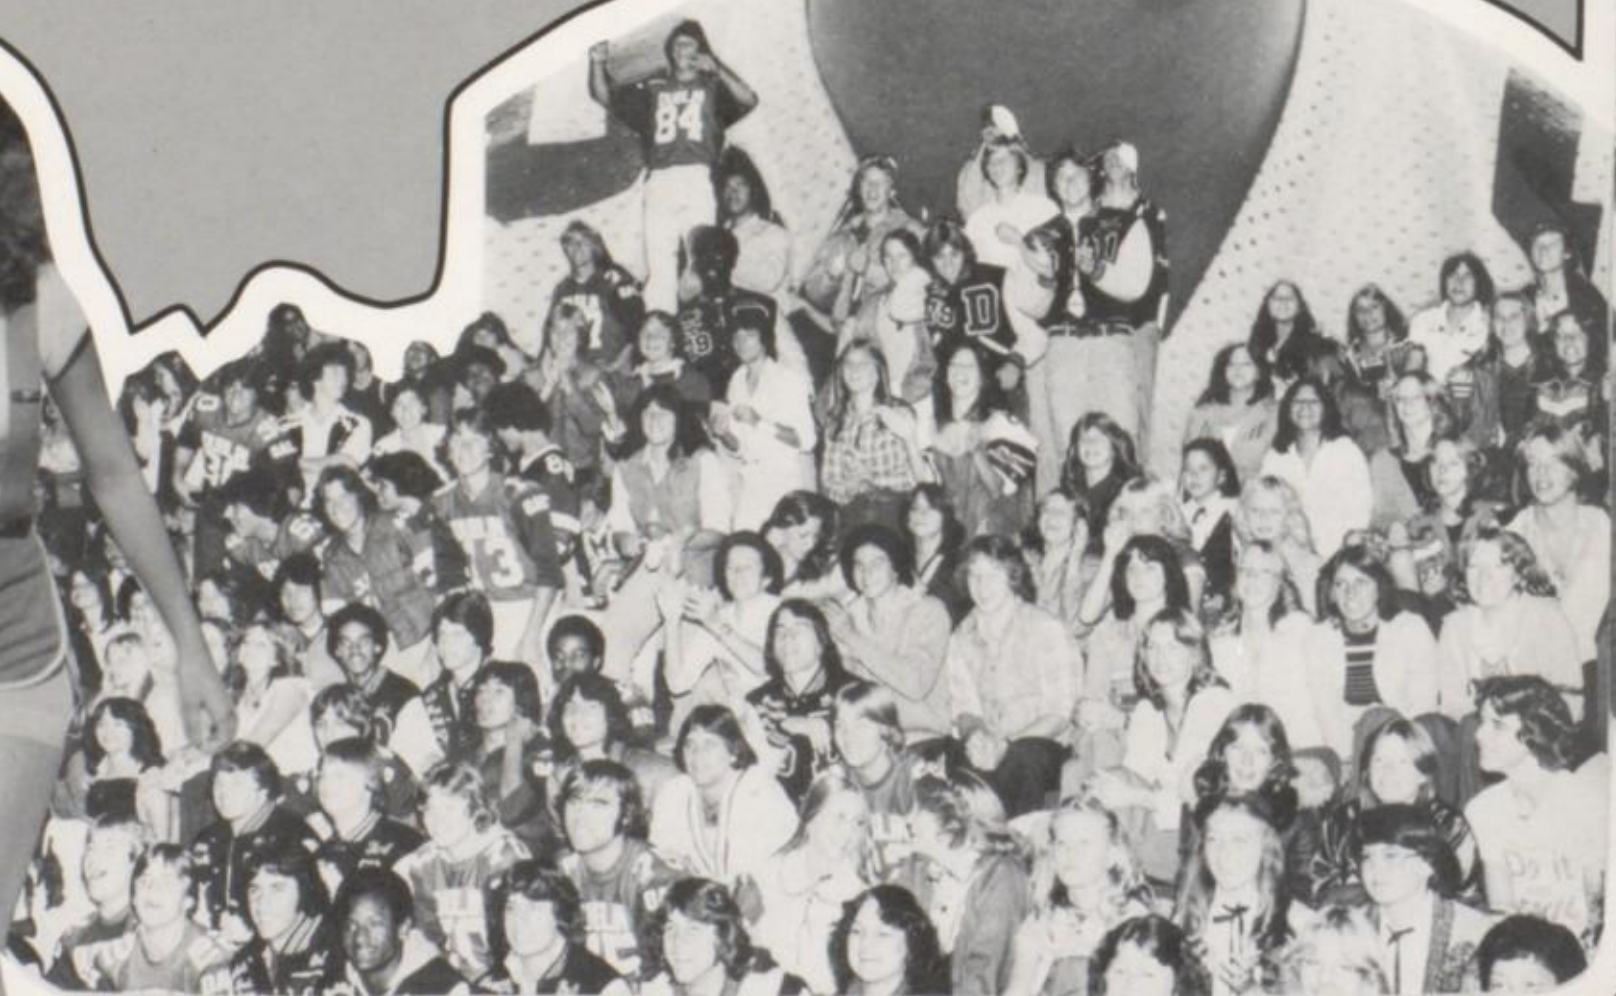

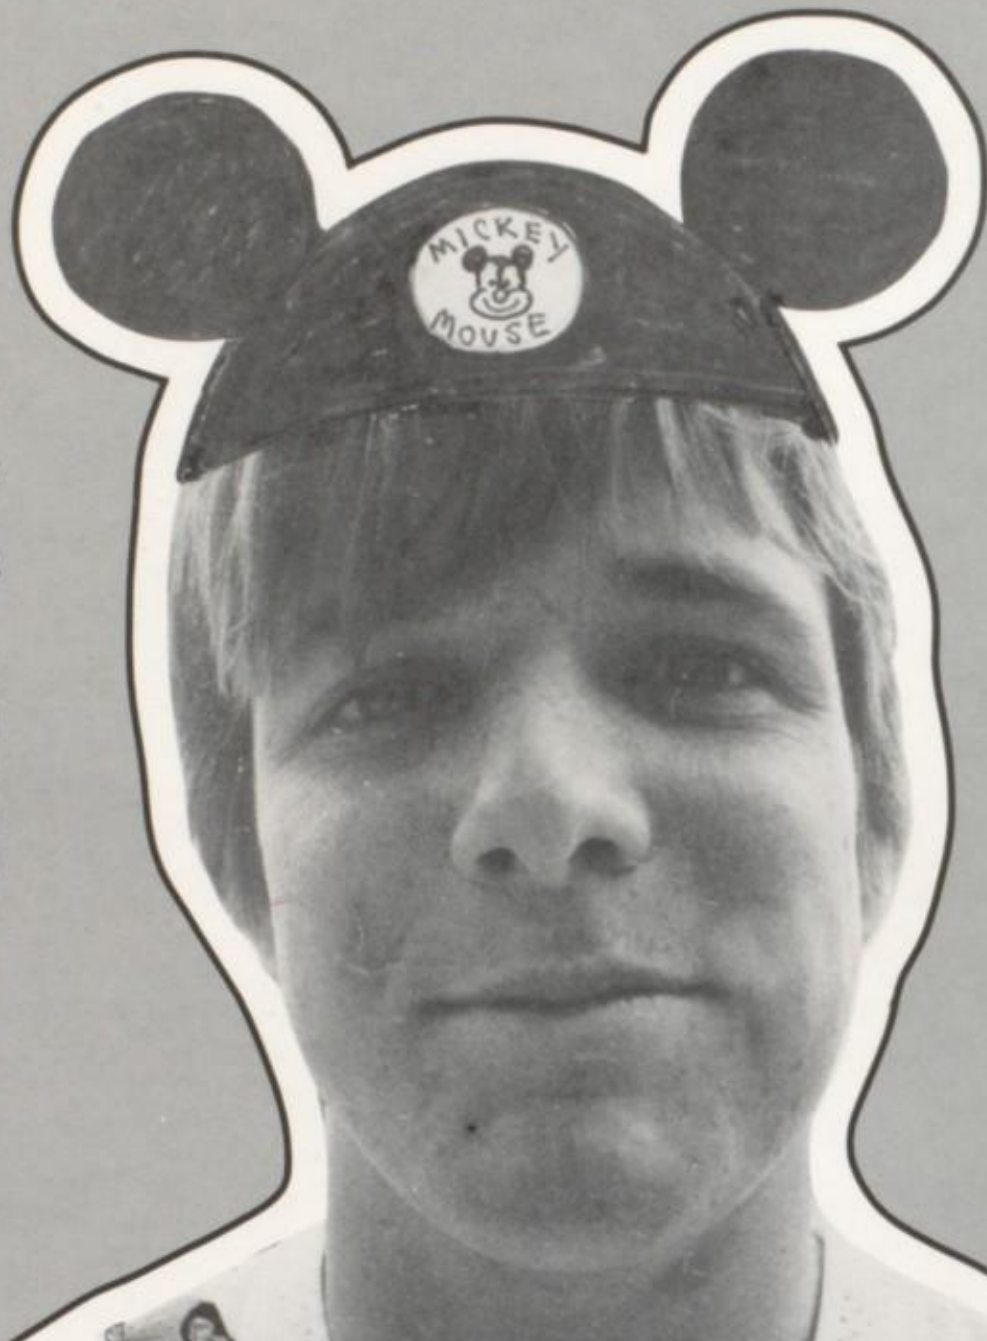

No rain ... balmy days ... a great theme ...

Competition between the classes but co-operation within each class ...

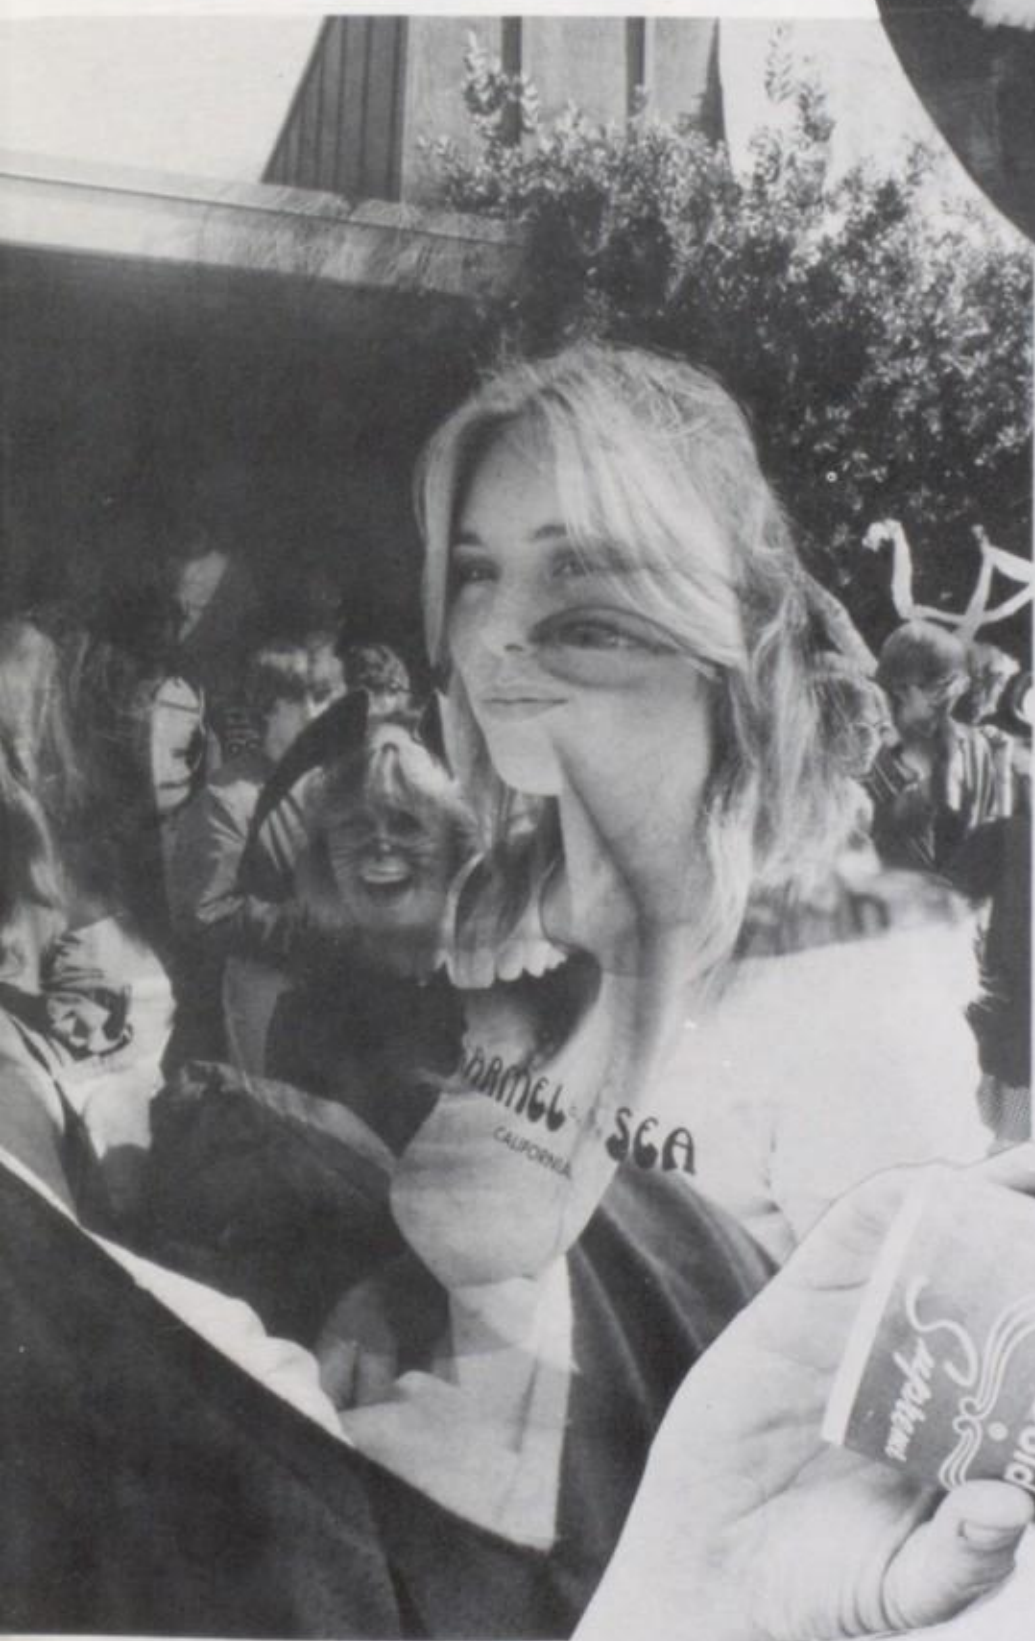

The willingness on the part of the student body and faculty to share in the fun and spirit ...

All of this helped make our 1978 Homecoming one of the best ever.

1. Heralding Homecoming, the class of 1982, represented here by Danee Bugna, got things going. In the background the bleachers are filled with juniors and seniors. Peering from behind them, in full Mickey Mouse Regalia, is David Muth. To his left is a double exposure of a large group of Spirit Week participants. In the upper corner photo we find the Alumni Cheerleaders, doing a routine in front of a clinching Todd Boespflug and Linda Buckholtz. Scarting a pint of ice cream as part of a rally competition, which the junior class won, is the last person in the Homecoming Montage, Bill Durfey.

1. Part of the decoration of the Little Theater by the class of 1982.
2. June Bowers shows her excitement, as Andy Lezcano, Yvette Greathouse, Dennis Mitchell, and Karen Phillips watch Andy Sameron become frosh Prince.
3. "Me? Why I'm Bashful," says June Bowers in her Seven Dwarfs costume.
4. Here we see six of the Seven Dwarfs, led by Snow White: Liza Visperas, Helen Bosque, Carrie Woodall, Mo Mizban, June Bowers, Suzanne Andresen, and Kelly McCuen.

The show must go on . . .

Starting out a rally with a broken record is something that could ruin the "spirit" of some groups, but not the class of 82'. They, instead, re-arranged the order of their routines and went on with the show.

The highlight, in some minds, was the baby food eating game won by the Senior Class—the entree was liver.

The freshman class skit was a lively one with Winnie the Pooh outsmarting the big bad Cal. High Grizzly and saving the Dublin Victory Pie.

For the first high school rally, the freshman class did an outstanding job.

Soph's spark spirit

Rallying around the theme, It's a Small World, the sophomore class came ready to do their show.

The spirit week Cheerleaders and Pom pon girls both put on an exciting routine.

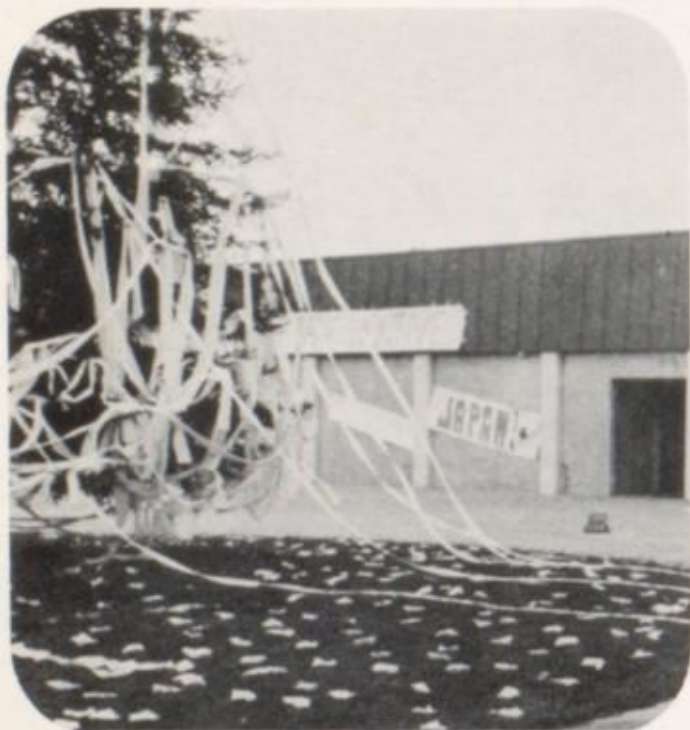

Being the second rally of the week (after the frosh), it took a little time and effort to get the crowd into the Homecoming spirit—the seniors particularly lacking in both numbers and noise.

It was to their credit that the sophomores both in attendance and as rally participants did finally get everyone cheering and involved.

A good job by the class of 1981.

Junior rally ignites

Traditionally, the juniors have always competed with the seniors. This rally was no exception. The cheerleaders and pom-pom girls did routines of, Walt Disney Presents and A Very Merry Un-birthday.

The spirit of the rally climaxed at the end, when the rally turned into a free-for-all yelling match between the juniors and the seniors. If you take into account the rivalry between the two upper classes, and the spirit of competition that Homecoming nurtures, the junior rally was a good, spirited show.

Walt Disney presents the last of the 70's

A story book tale, a story book character—Mickey Mouse, and a story book ending, were all part of the Senior spirit rally. A few students sat on ice as part of a rally game (won by the juniors). Some ate what they thought was an apple but turned out to be an onion.

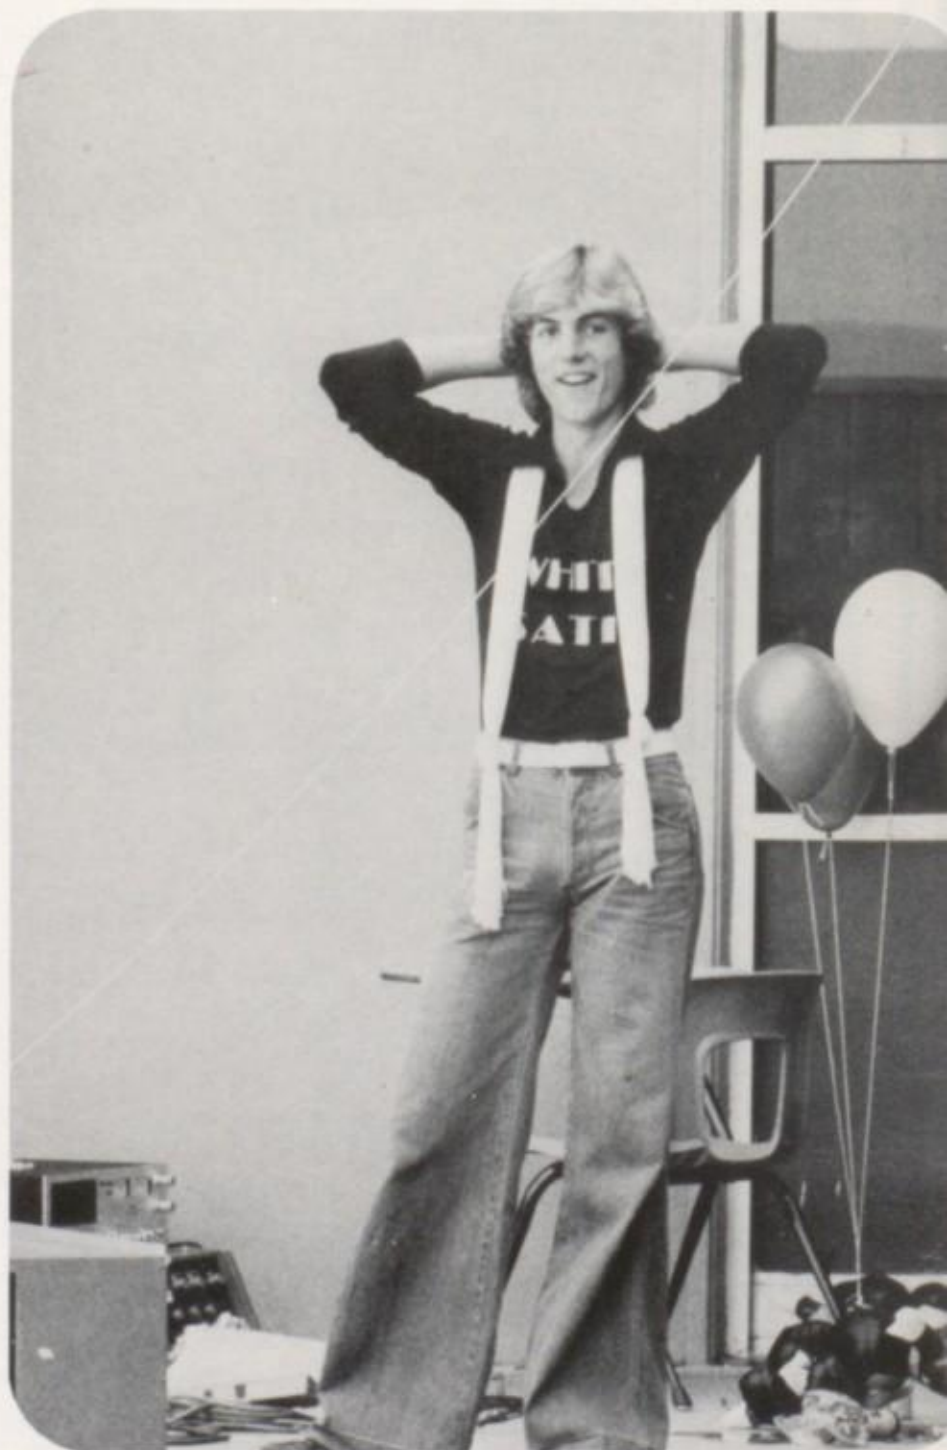

The famed Mouseketeers did a very neat dance number. The same group also helped with the skit about the big bad wolf trying to huff and puff and blow the poor piggies houses down.

The culmination of all the rally work and spirit display was the whole class singing the Mickey Mouse good-bye song.

As the curtain came down on the rally the class danced their way into 5th period with a nostalgic rendition of soul train.

1st float ever

Working on the principle that small is better, the Freshmen built their float over and around a pick-up truck. The building was carried out at the home of Frosh President, Jason Braga. More than 30 cheerleaders, football players, spirit week girls and just interested students help construct the float. The picture is evidence of the success by the class of 1982. One member of this class said after the parade, "Watch out next year. Now we know what we're doing."

Soph's work hard

Working on the large scale that the sophomores did, took a lot of planning, and more than an ordinary amount of time. The Sophomore float was constructed in stages at the homes of Tina Barnes, Leslie Coleman, and Linda Riecle. Towards the end of the week all the components were put together to display a diverse scene that encompassed the world. An excellent effort.

Juniors almost do it again

Having won the float competition two years running (something never done before), the Junior Class tried to grab first place for an unprecedented 3rd time. The Junior effort was very good and almost accomplished this. The spirit shown by the class with their large turnout at the float building site (the home of Doug Daugherty), was certainly indicative of the kind of effort the Junior Class always gives. Next year will come and the Juniors will be ready.

Seniors put it together ...

Feverishly working, all night in some cases, the class of 1979—The Seniors—finally put the finishing touches on their production of the Three Pigs. This red, white and blue effort was picked as #1 by a panel of impartial judges. This certainly justified all the hard work and copious amount of time the Seniors spent constructing their float. As one Senior put it; "All the floats were good, but ours was just a little better."

A very special evening ...

Halftime on a beautiful fall evening was the setting for this years Homecoming halftime parade. The floats and the Prince and Princess Candidates each took a turn around the field, all a part of a very special spectacle. The judging was finished, the winners were announced-for King Arthur Byaless, for Queen, a very vivacious Kelly Moore. Tears in her eyes, well-wishes from the runner-ups, our Queen was crowned.

For the enthusiastic Homecoming crowd, this was also a special moment and was followed by a very decisive victory over Homecoming opponent, Cal. High- leaving everyone with a definite good feeling.

To defeat your sister school in the last game of the year in the last seconds of the game is a real thrill. But when doing that also means the championship, it's something extra special, that the team and the coaches have a right to be proud of.

Head coach Wayne Re had this to say: "From the very beginning, the guys knew they had a championship caliber team. They set their goals high and worked hard to reach them. Our first league win was 28-0 over Granada. Then came the disappointing 21-21 tie against Foothill. The team knew they had to win the remaining 5 games. The season then climaxed with a highly emotional win over Amador, giving us the E.B.A.L. championship."

Gaels lose play-off

In a close game, 9-0 Washington, the Gaels showed their willingness to hit. The opportunities to move the ball were limited in the 1st half by poor field position and good defense by the Washington team.

In the second half the team made two good drives only to see one stalled and an interception stop the second. The first drive was helped considerably by a 40 yard burst up the middle by all-league running back Lynn Beamon.

Still, to be in the play-offs is a victory.

Dublins J.V. football team, forty strong, finished fourth in the league with a seasonal 5-5 record.

Recalling team personality and accomplishments, Len Ferro, Head Coach, had this to say: "We were a close knit team who did well physically but could have used some improvement with the mental aspect of the game."

Some of the teams standouts were Mark Castillo, Brett Seropian, Dan Scott and Brian Wilson.

The desire was there.

The team had character even though some of the players were kicked off halfway through the season. They beat San Ramon and Cal. High back to back, and except for the 2nd half against Amador, we were in every game.

As Coach Young said, "I enjoyed the season and learned a lot. I hope the team did also."

Cross Country shows promise

You can't always judge a team or a season by your won-lost record. The cross country team was one such team. According to their coach, Mr. Cathcart, "They're a great bunch of kids, with lots of personality."

With a smaller turnout than previous years, the team still had some outstanding individuals such as Junior's Julie Hayes, winner of the league championship and Daryl Williams who took the Hayward Invitational.

With other strong juniors such as Evelyn Knowles and Scott Malfatti, the team shows promise for next year.

Varsity Volleyballers tie for 2nd place

Many thought it couldn't be done—maybe even some of the most avid Dublin High supporters. But the victory was not to be denied. The #1 team, Amador, was to be defeated in a classic come-from-behind finish. Coach Shoemaker explained after the game; "We came from behind in the second (game) from a score of 10-14 to beat them. We then came from behind in the third game, down by 4-14, to defeat Amador 16-14. That was the most satisfying win of my coaching career so far."

"We really had a group of dedicated players that gave their all. Our group of eight played good enough to tie San Ramon for 2nd place. A good effort."

Jv's show improvement

Volleyball is a game of teamwork and finesse. It takes a lot of hard work and dedication, not to mention time, to accomplish the finer points of the game which make the difference between victory and defeat. This years J.V. team was a very young and inexperienced group. Their first few games were real learning experiences and character builders. That the team didn't get discouraged says a lot for the team and their coach.

Coach Cassvan had this to say about the season: "We had a very interesting team. They started from the beginning knowing nothing, and by the end of the season showed great improvement. Our season was very good and satisfying for everybody."

Netters defeat Cal High

"Coaching tennis was very enjoyable," stated Varsity tennis coach Barry Lindaman. This same sentiment was echoed by his assistant, Ron Pacheco. The enjoyable part was certainly not the 1-13 record, but the one victory over arch rival Cal. High.

The league is a very tough one and the fact that this year's tennis team had a good group of young starters is an indication that the Gaels netters will improve.

The most exciting moment, (and also hilarious), of the season was the look on Marty Dill's face when he broke his racket by throwing it in anger during a match - he lost both the match, and his racket.

Hoopsters come on strong ...

A 3-10 record in pre-season isn't something one would want to brag about, but this year's varsity team would never give up. Two of these wins brought the Gaels the Consolation Championship of the Del Oro Tournament. Here Matt Carrere was named to the 1st All Tournament Team.

The team landed in the playoffs by finishing the season with a 6-8 record. After starting out with six straight losses, this accomplishment is highly commendable. Much of the success says Mr. Nelson, is due to the play of guards Chris Zika and Rene Ruiz and the big men Solomon Plummer, Darrell Pierce, Matt Carrere, Stu Billette, Kurt Huska, and Jeff Magathen.

"Individual" effort hurt . . .

"This year the Dublin High JV Basketball team was not a very close group. They had other interests which didn't always include basketball. We had good team talent, but as a group they lacked the desire to win and didn't use that talent." So stated Bob Kreider, coach of the JV team.

Finishing with a 4-3 league record, the Freshman team did well despite losing four starting players. High point was defeating Foothill's team, 38-33.

"The team had a lot of character," summarized Coach Young. "This was the best Defensive team that I've ever coached, in 5 years. They were GREAT."

Inconsistency hurts . . .

"Good season but an inconsistent team," is what head coach Gene Cassavan said about his Dublin squad.

The Dublin High soccer team came in second place behind Amador, who went undefeated but tied us.

The personality of the team was good, with a lot of seniors playing together for a long time: Senior Dave Alvarez getting most outstanding, Jeff Bynum most improved, and John Citi most inspirational.

The highlight of the season was beating Foothill, and the most exciting game was against Amador. The low point was losing to Cal High.

One of the best teams ever . . .

"This is probably the best team Dublin has ever had," said coach Barry Lindaman. Lindaman felt he could and should have taken the championship, but the team had some tough competition from Amador, Foothill and Livermore. Still the very young team managed to get second with the third place team, three games behind.

At the beginning of the season it looked as if they were going to be the champions, with a string of victories, starting off with knocking out De La Salle 9 - 0. Even though they lost the title, the future looks very promising for them.

Team fights frustration . . .

Frustration marked this year's girls basketball season. This according to their coach Phyllis Nagel.

The team's most improved players were Michelle Mack and Michelle Sequeira, most outstanding Marge Downing and Toni Taigen; most inspirational Sue Montgomery and Marge Downing.

These players helped defeat Monte Vista by one point in overtime.

Team lacked togetherness . . .

Problems with quarreling and lack of transportation were the biggest headache this season, according to JV basketball coach Mike Iijima.

With a smaller turn-out this year and more of the team composed of freshman players the team lacked maturity. The high point in the season was a two point loss to Amador, though losing the team didn't give-up and played their best game.

The team finished in fourth place. The most improved players were Erja Ihamaki and Joy Williams with Beth Patterson and Kris Whitty most outstanding. The most inspirational player was hard-working Cindy Meadows.

Youth hurt the team this year but will surely be an asset next year.

Good attitude, good hustle . . .

Baseball 1979 should be good for this year's Varsity team. Even though rain hurt the early practice schedule, the team's "good attitude and hustle" should make up for it, according to head coach Len Ferro.

Hitting at the beginning of the season was the biggest problem, with the pitchers way out in front, but good defense and strong pitching helped equalize the situation, in a very balanced league.

The one certainty at this time, is that on May 11th the Gaels Baseball team could conceivably be in the North Coast Tournament. Only time will tell . . .

1. Catcher Jorge Garrett and the umpire wait for the pitch.
2. Gary Diehl getting checked for a possible injury by Coach Len Ferro.
3. After a big wind-up, Steve Kinyon gets ready to release the ball.
4. Steve Grant throws across the diamond to first base.
5. Taking his turn at the plate is "lefty" Mike Harmon.

Coach happily surprised

If a good attitude makes a season worthwhile, then Coach Duffey of the junior varsity squad, has had a good one. He was pleasantly surprised by the large turnout, and in particular, the play of Mark Castillo and new student Brian Wilson. Along with these two were such outstanding players as Andy Smith, Rick Brower, Wayne Hoffman and Ron Fritsch.

The last question asked Coach Duffey was the possible weak point on this year's team—his reply, "15 and 16 year Big Heads!!"

Hitting will tell . . .

Trying to win at least half their games (if not more), was the goal of frosh coach Mike Lusk. To do that the team had to commit "few errors and keep their enthusiastic attitude."

The team's biggest asset was their speed and the fact, according to coach Lusk, that they seemed to have the potential to hit well. The team and the coach both had fun this past season.

Eleven rookies make team

Inexperience played a major role in the success of this year's JV girls' softball team. Only two players returned, leaving the next 11 spots to be filled by first year players. The practice time was also cut short by the bad early season weather..

Coach Phyllis Nagel did comment, that even though everyone was a "new-face", the team "worked together real well." Coach Nagel hoped for more good weather, and a longer season to allow her team to gain the experience it lacked.

Fighting injuries, weather

Starting the first two league games with only nine healthy players was a real problem for the girls' varsity softball team. Coach Tim Peck was not even sure that all nine could play, and with the bad weather in the middle and end of March, holding practices was also a headache.

But despite these handicaps, the varsity team did play. They worked extra hard to beat their arch rival, Amador, as well as the rest of the EBAL teams. The feelings about the season were best summed up by Coach Tim Peck, "I really enjoyed coaching this team."

1. A pre-game pep talk by Coach Tim Peck, relating some strategy to the team.
2. Leaning to gain balance, Linda Doyal is set to release the ball.
3. Catching the ball is very important. Eunice Chandler crouches in the typical catchers' position.

4. Speeding towards home trying to score is Diane Fallah.
5. About to let the pitch go is Yvonne Groenhuizen.
6. Making the play at home is Sandy Hatfield.

Swim Team hits road ...

All sports felt the effect of Proposition 13, but none more than the swimming and diving program. The team had to travel daily to either the Amador High School pool or the Amador Aquatic Center, both in Pleasanton, for their practices. The practices involved many different workouts which varied with the individual and events they swam.

Coach Wayne Miller stated that the strong point of the team was the desire of the individual to better himself. He finished the interview by stating, "My biggest goal of the year is to make sure no one drowns."—an admirable goal.

Doubles key to victory ...

Starting another campaign in a very tough and balanced league, the girl netters should be competitive. The team, according to coach Diane Gill, "has a lot of potential and a very good attitude."

The key to winning matches rests primarily on the shoulders of some very strong doubles teams—which shows over-all depth. If the doubles teams come through, it will only be necessary for one of the three singles players to pull out a Dublin victory.

The toughest opponent (and rival) is a traditional one—Amador. Hopes are high that this year's team can do well against Amador, as well as the rest of the league.

DHS Track—strong individual efforts ...

Running several miles a day, five days a week, is nothing unusual for the members of the DHS track team. In fact, it's not uncommon to put in several hours of practice a day in sprints, jumps, and relays.

The boys' team this year had many outstanding individuals: Marvin Shawen in the hurdles, Mark Davey and Derrick Woolridge in the sprints, and Mark Maple, Mike Stonich, and Mark Gottberg in the jumping events—to name just a few. However, despite many excellent performances, the team was a bit weak and lacked depth.

The girls' team, however, was a bit more competitive. Julie Hayes in the distance and mid-distance races, Gayle Monger in the sprints and long jumps, and Evelyn Knowles in the middle-distance races were just a few of the team's many strong performers, who helped the girls' track team enjoy one of its best seasons ever.

3. Lined up on the football field are sprinters, Marvin Shawen, Mark Gottberg, Derrick Woolridge and Mark Davey.
4. It takes more than just "track" work to succeed in track. Eddie Buckholtz is a good example of this non-track work out.
5. Many hours of practice has helped Julie Hayes break the 440 and 880 records.
6. Mark Maples talent in jumping has helped him to succeed in breaking our school high jump and triple jump records.

Special Feature:

Since a track team competes as a whole, it is very difficult to single out just two team mates as "the most valuable." However, after speaking to the head coach, Mr. Tom Cathcart, we found there were two team members who did stand out a little more than the rest: Julie Hayes and Mark Maple.

Julie Hayes, a junior this year, has been on the track team for three years. Her dedication and talent in this sport have helped her achieve new school records in the 440, the 880, and other events.

Another outstanding individual is senior Mark Maple, who has been on the team for four years. Mark, who mainly does the jumping events, has broken records in the high jump and triple jump.

These track members have been an asset to the track team and school, they have earned the respect of their coach and their peers.

Golf team rebuilds ...

Having a girl on the team, (breaking the sex barrier), was one of the pluses on this year's team. Joining Lisa Whiten, were a host of first year players in a rebuilding phase.

Even though this year's team was not strong, coach Bob Kreider said, "I'm sure we'll surprise some of the teams." He pointed out that Jeff Caskey had a 38 to his credit against Livermore High, and that the other players were steadily improving.

Monte Vista seem to be the team to beat, as they are always tough in league and state competition. In concluding the yearbook interview, Coach Kreider made it perfectly clear that he is a strong advocate on non-discrimination as he stated in regards to having a female on the team, "I think it's great. I wouldn't mind having ten of them."

1. Watching his team on the practice green, Coach Kreider gives instructions.
2. Addressing the ball is Aaron Harmon.
3. Following through on a putt is Scott Jeffrey.

Sacrifice, key to success . . .

Fall, winter and spring sports have brought many hours of entertainment to the students and faculty at DHS, as well as the community at large.

The success of some teams was measured in championships and individual recognition, while at the same time, some teams suffered numerous frustrations and disappointments. But it can be said, that no matter what the eventual results of a record, or a game, the true winner is the athlete who learns to be a part of a "team", a contributor, a worker, an individual who can and will sacrifice.

While competition is the lifeblood of sports, teamwork is the soul, and for the most part, the student athlete at DHS has earned the respect and admiration of his or her peers. We wish the best to those seniors who leave us, and look forward to writing about those who will return next year to compete for themselves, their team, and our school.

Events . . . Gossip . . . Local Color . . .

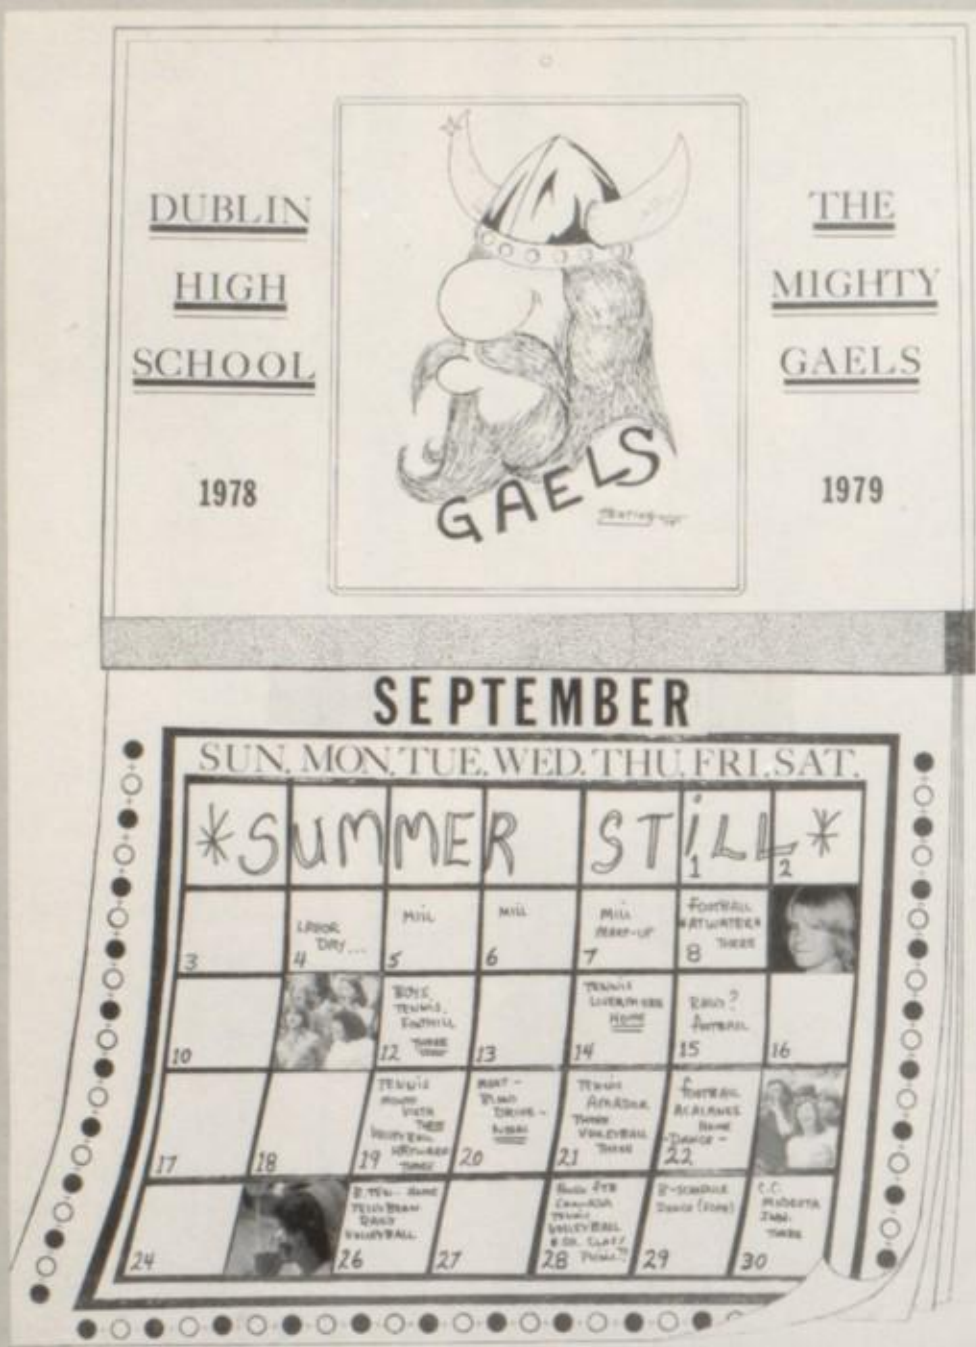

When we look back at the nine months of the calendar that make up our school year, we sometimes forget what was going on. It all tends to blur, with little distinction and plenty of generality.

This section of our yearbook is an attempt to come to grips with this problem by giving a month to month breakdown of news from around the world, here at home, and at DHS.

We hope this will help you relive the school year that started on a warm September day in 1978.

1. Blood test are no fun, but Shelly Moss gives a drop for her biology class, anyway.
2. An after game dance finds freshman Jackie Garrett on the dance floor.
3. No that is not dandruff that Lori Caskey is watching Patti Heier shake from her hair.
4. GAELS 34, says it all . . .
5. Attending one of the football games are couple Kristen Salisbury and Tommy Pearson.

Back to work and play

September was a month of cool evenings and shortened autumn days. President Carter's organization of a Summit at Camp David, in an attempt to break the peace deadlock between Israel and Egypt, provided a major diplomatic triumph for the White House. World tension was further eased when President Carter resumed the SALT talks with the Russians.

Locally, Dublin held its annual Heritage Fair, with a parade, games and crafts display at Old St. Raymonds Church.

Dublin High opened its 11th year of school with students and teachers hurrying about in an all-out effort to shake off their summer lethargy.

Dublin's football team showed that it was organized from the start as they won game after game in their push to win the EBAL Championship.

September closed dry and warm without any real controversy other than the appearance of a faculty "publication" entitled Rats.

Spirit Week, huge success!!!

A sense of loss marked the month of October. After only 33 days a stroke claimed the life of "Smiling" Pope John Paul I.

A few days later, in San Diego, a PSA passenger liner collided with a small Cessna killing all aboard both planes plus many on the ground where they crash landed. This was the worst airline accident in US air-flight history.

Yet, tragedies were not the only news this month. The New York Yankees felt no sense of loss as they came from behind to whip the LA Dodgers in the World Series. Dublin, in the meanwhile, was showing every sign of winning its fight for cityhood. Here, at DHS, Spirit Week was a huge success, culminating in the defeat of Cal. High during the Homecoming Game.

And so a warm and basically dry October ended with DHS, the staff, and the students adjusting to each other and the affects of Proposition 13.

November - month of tragedy ...

Tragedy and accomplishments were both a large part of November's Activities. Many things occurred internationally as well as locally. Questions were asked, such as, "is the Shah going to collapse?" and questionable statements made, such as "the Mideast is getting closer to peace." Sadat and Begin won the Nobel Peace Prize, but was there really peace? John the Baptist's body was said to be found in Cairo. There was Carter's inflation fight, American involvement in Iran and the taxpayer's revolt raged on.

In California, Jerry Brown was re-elected and then without warning, tragedy struck. Over 900 people the majority of whom lived in or around the eastbay, lost their lives in Guyana's, Jonestown. One week later, Mayor Moscone and Harvey Milk were assassinated in San Francisco. The following weeks found city and eastbay people stunned.

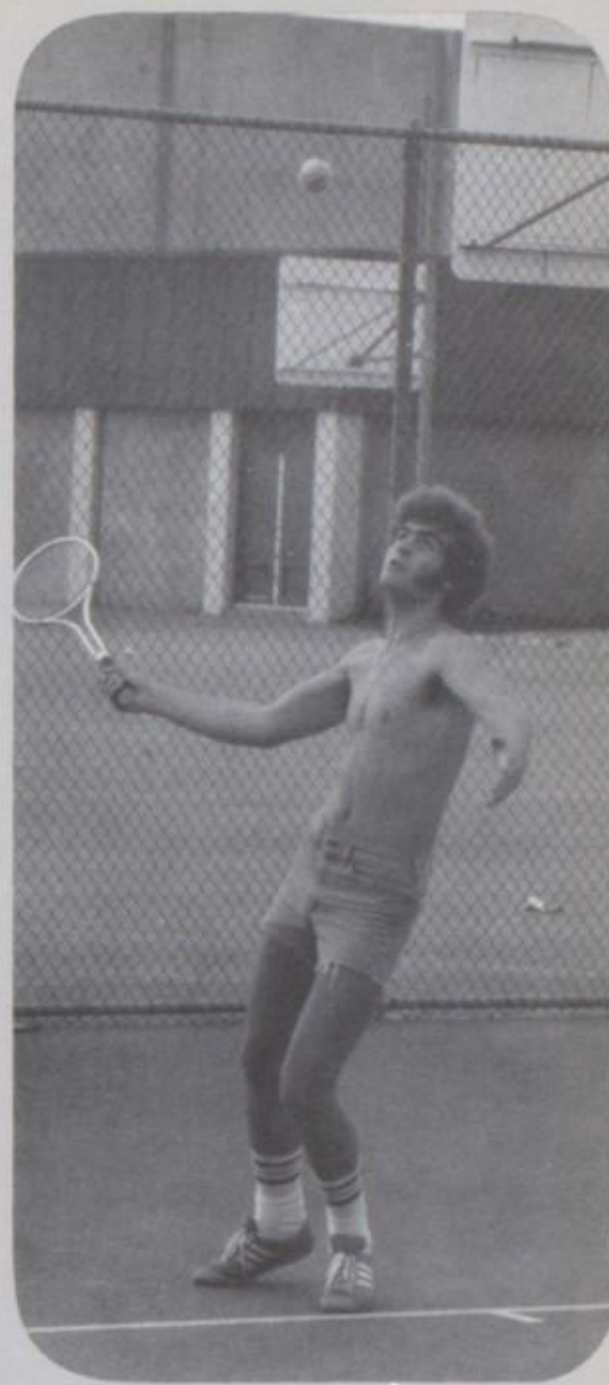

In Pleasanton, the quaint Verona Bridge, last remnant of old highway 21, was scheduled to be torn down and replaced by a cement bridge, and it was considered by the Pleasanton School Board to sue the city.

Amidst all of this tragedy and sadness, the DHS Varsity football team brightened the spirits of all its devoted fans by winning the Eastbay Athletic League championship, the second in school history.

Drinking—good for your health?

Sadness and gratitude could both have been themes for the month of December. Sadness struck in many places, here as well as abroad. Israel's great leader, Golda Meier, who, in one way or another, touched all of our lives, passed away.

In Sacramento two CHP officers were slain, while in Washington, DC the federal courts decided to take another look at the JFK assassination.

For you drinkers, the Kaiser Research Team stated, "Drinking could be good for your health." This, if done in moderation, has proven to help a person have less of a chance for a heart attack. So now a person has a real reason to have a Christmas cheer drink.

BART got into the Christmas spirit this year by offering free rides on the Valley Express busses on Christmas and New Years day.

Dublin High displayed mixed reaction to Christmas. The students failed completely in their support of the annual Christmas Ball (it was cancelled). But, on the positive side, this year's annual Christmas food drive was the most successful to date.

Super Bowl, Super ...

Rain followed in the New Year and brought the rain levels in most of California to about 85% of normal. The Shah of Iran was finally forced to take a "Vacation" to Egypt and elsewhere. The month of January also marked the beginning of a new Era of trade with China, with Coca Cola working out a trade package as the US re-establishes full diplomatic ties with the Chinese. It was further revealed during the month that the final statistics showed that the inflation rate for the year just ended was set at 9%, just missing double digits.

The Super Bowl was held in Miami, Florida between the Pittsburgh Steelers and the Dallas Cowboys. It was the AFC victorious once again, with the Steelers winning by the score of 35 to 31. This Super Bowl was not a Super Bore.

The Dublin High Domestic Exchange Club held its annual 24 hour marathon dance in the cafeteria, and managed to raise over $2,000 toward their exchange with Incline High School. A sense of relief was also experienced as the first semester came to a close, and the publication Rats was no longer heard from. With a short rain shower the month of January came to a close.

China invades Vietnam ...

It could be said that for a short while the world hovered on the brink of World War III. With the invasion of Vietnam by China the world watched Russia, who initially roared like a lion but thankfully did little else.

In a more positive vain, major league baseball players started reporting to spring training camps. Our own basketball season ended with Dublin making the play-offs in spite of a poor 1st half of the season and Jeff Craw finishing in 3rd place in the State Wrestling Tournament, the best finish in league history.

One shouldn't forget the rain in the month of February, as it was an almost daily occurrence. It was also a cold month, and in the H wing even colder with the regular heating system burned out in the first week of February.

The sophomore class sponsored a very successful Valentine carnation sale while the junior and senior class had the misfortune of seeing their Sweetheart Ball become the second major dance cancellation of the school year.

It could be said that for many students and staff, the end of February was welcomed. Good-bye February ... Hello March ...

At last, treaty signed . . .

March . . . Spring gave us a sneak preview of the warmer, sunshiny days to come, but rainy winter managed to remind us she was still the main feature.

On Monday, March 26, the long-awaited "Peace Treaty" was signed by Anwar Sadat and Menachen Begin. The treaty signified the end of long, arduous negotiations and the beginning of much hard work to resolve remaining problems between Israel, Egypt, and other Mid-East countries.

After being released from the Pleasanton Detention Center, Patricia Hearst and her fiancé, Bernard Shaw applied in San Francisco for a marriage license.

Because of "financial uncertainty" for next year, the Amador Valley Joint Union High School District sent letters of "possible termination" to a group of employees, including some Vice-Principals and temporary teachers.

At last a major dance survived at DHS, as the girls got into action for the tradition girl-ask-guy Sadie Hawkins Dance.

With the Yearbook Staff meeting its last deadline, a busy and hectic March ends . . .

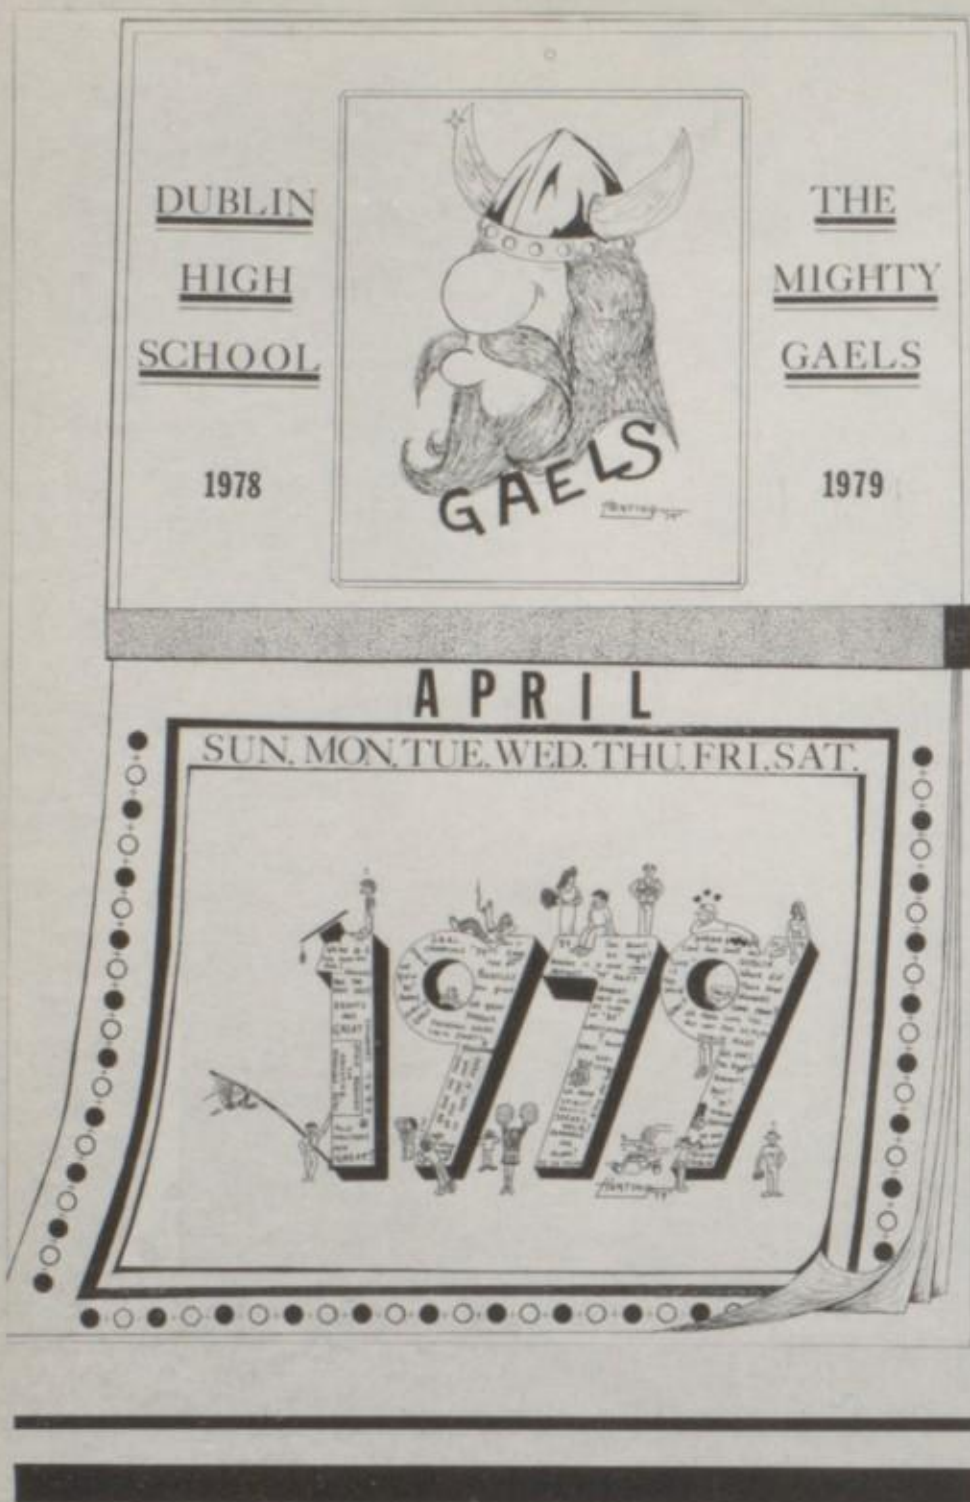

1. Demonstrating the "art" of wheel-work at the Education Fair, are juniors Daryl Burden and Burt Vegara.
2. Dancing to the beat of "Prime Suspect" at the Sadie Hawkins Dance, are Kathy Feiler and Augie Nobriga.

4. Drama student Mark Hemsley "mimes" at the Education Fair.
5. Donned in "authentic" Sadie Hawkins attire are Mike Lopez and Karen Philips.

As we see it . . .

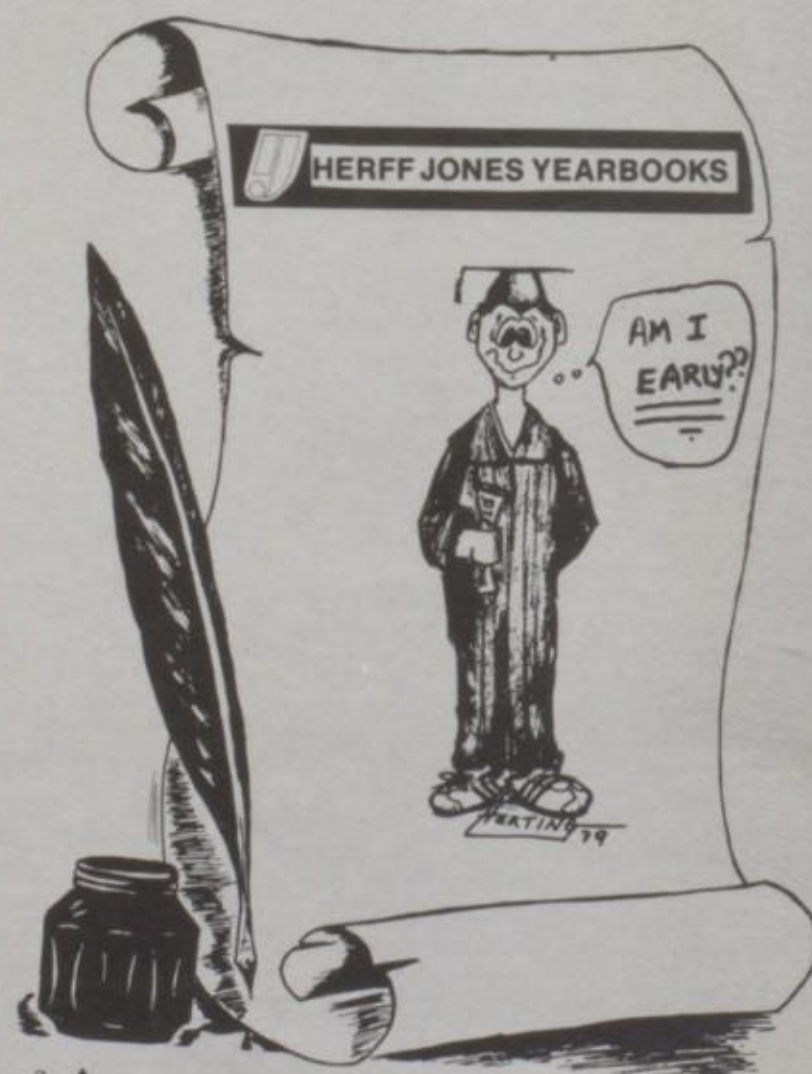

World news and current events here and abroad have been brought to you in our calendar section as a way of helping you keep this school year in a broad perspective. Unfortunately the April, May and June calendar section pages will be turned in to the yearbook publisher at the end of March. We can, therefore, only speculate at what the world and local happenings will be. So, as we see it . . .

The oil shortage gets worse-prices keep going up. In the Middle East tensions mount after the signing of a peace treaty between Israel and Egypt. Patty Hearst gets hitched, while the state legislature continues, with no success, to come up with a solution for funding schools for next year.

The Junior Prom is a big success and the seniors pull-off their un-official off-campus "Senior Ball". The weather keeps improving and the seniors go through with their traditional cut day while the other classes wisely don't. And around campus, the talk is about the fact that, "can you believe it, the year's almost over?"

Can it really be over . . .

Spring in the air—love, hot dogs and Pepsi-Cola, and the warm arm of summer beckons. Long days and short nights, homework grinding to a halt—finals are right around the corner, and then they're here—OUCH!!!

Can the year really be over?

Must we call a halt to this thing we have called "school year '79"?

Has the world changed?

Have we changed?

Rhetorical questions, all.

Of course nothing stands still, stays the same. As the last leaf of this yearbook calendar comes to a close, we must take a step forward, open a new calendar, and keep growing. This we will do, but . . .

It is this old calendar that we will keep coming back to, to recall where we've been. By knowing where we've been, it will help us build for the future.

1. Cooking pancakes for the Booster Club Breakfast are "Boosters", Mr. Wayne Barnes and Mr. Jim Abreu.
2. Running around getting a "story" for yearbook was one of the more important and hectic aspects of senior Shari Babas' school year.
3. Dublin High's loss was Mr. Lewis Trotter's gain, as former Miss Kathy Ryan retired at the end of the first semester to help her new husband in his business.
4. Spring and tennis may go hand in hand but on this occasion the racquet has "slipped the hand" that held it.

The class of 1980 had a very good year with the help and support from the Junior class officers.

This group of officers which were advised by Mr. Lindamen and Mr. Durfey, were very unique in their sense of independence. Almost all of the work was done on their own with the final O.K. coming from their advisors.

Good class support helped with fund raisers. They had a very successful football dance but a not so successful basketball dance.

Problems in this class were few except for a slight problem between administration and class at the beginning of the year, but that all worked out. The most important thing, leadership was provided.

MAD HAT, MAD TEA ...

For the Juniors, this year's Homecoming held both spirit and defeat. Their class theme was "Alice In Wonderland." The theme was carried out by the pom-pom girls, who wore the traditional Alice jumper, and the cheerleaders who wore an updated version of the late White Rabbit suit. The rally featured a genuine Alice, the absurd Mad Hatter, the Cowardly King and the Evil Queen of Hearts, as well as a display of a tremendous amount of spirit. The Alice in Wonderland theme was depicted on the Junior float as the "Mad Tea Party" and was the product of many hours of work.

1. Twin sisters, Jan and Jill Knight are constantly found not only at home together, but around the D.H.S. campus as well.
2. Junior Gaels, "Getting older and getting better."
3. Kristen Salisbury "porks out" at the D.H.S. cafeteria.
4. Student assistant Erin Stamm does office work prior to her other classes.

Sweetheart Ball to be held??

Tentative plans to hold the Sweetheart Ball were made for the Shannon Community Center. This planning by the Juniors (and Seniors) was in trouble early as the Center was Proposition 13teened, and could no longer be used by the community.

The next plan, to look for a private place ran into trouble because of money—$600.00 to rent the San Ramon Country Club—and the same relative figure elsewhere.

The class is also checking into the Willow Tree and Howard Johnsons but at this writing a place or band has not been chosen.

1. "The winner", shouts the referee as Jeff Craw wins another wrestling match.
2. A pretty smile from Rhonda Sigler before going to one of her classes.
3. Something has captured Teri Carpenello's attention. But what??? Or who???
4. Rapping at lunch is Junior Steve Wagenhoffer.

A tradition dies . . .

Junior Leadership has been a long-standing tradition at Dublin High. But it seems that this year that tradition has been broken. There was no Junior Leadership for the class of 1980. "Why?"

When last year's head delegate Debbie Dugan was confronted with this question she answered, "There was no Junior Leadership this year because of a lack of teacher interest. Last year's advisor Mrs. Hazen was unable to advise this year, leaving the club without an advisor. By school law, you have to have an advisor for your club. No other advisor could be found".

The leadership club consists of potential leaders that go to a leadership conference to strengthen their leadership skills. It's a shame that such a worthwhile club had to end.

1. Susan Aubin plays paper football as an extra curricular in her Biology Class.
2. Headed somewhere on campus in a dress which isn't a sight normally seen, is student Jan Raiger.
3. Two Dublin High studs, Paul Hamilton and Earl Palacios aren't modest when it comes to taking pictures.
4. Taking a flying leap is Lana Moschetti sticking to the Disneyland homecoming theme, dressed as Tinkerbell.
5. Class Competition is a popular pastime as Kristen Bozak makes up Augie Nobriga to be a clown.
6. Enjoying herself during spirit week is Pamela Brown.
7. Paul Hamilton and his girlfriend Teri Carpenello seem to be having fun at one of the many high school dances.

Being a Sophomore officer meant meeting weekly with the Sophomore class advisor, Mrs. Ermak. The meetings covered a variety of topics and were an informal chance to share ideas and figure out ways to make money.

The class officers and their advisor were also interested in promoting class spirit. They invited members of the class of '81 to come to many of their meetings and wanted such class input.

The total commitment by the officers was admirable—with no one person (officer) doing all the work—but with all sharing some of the work.

Rings for ...

School rings are as traditional as coffee in the morning, dating after ten, hide and go seek and having a steady. They symbolize spirit, commitment and a oneness, in pride that comes from being a necessary part of a whole.

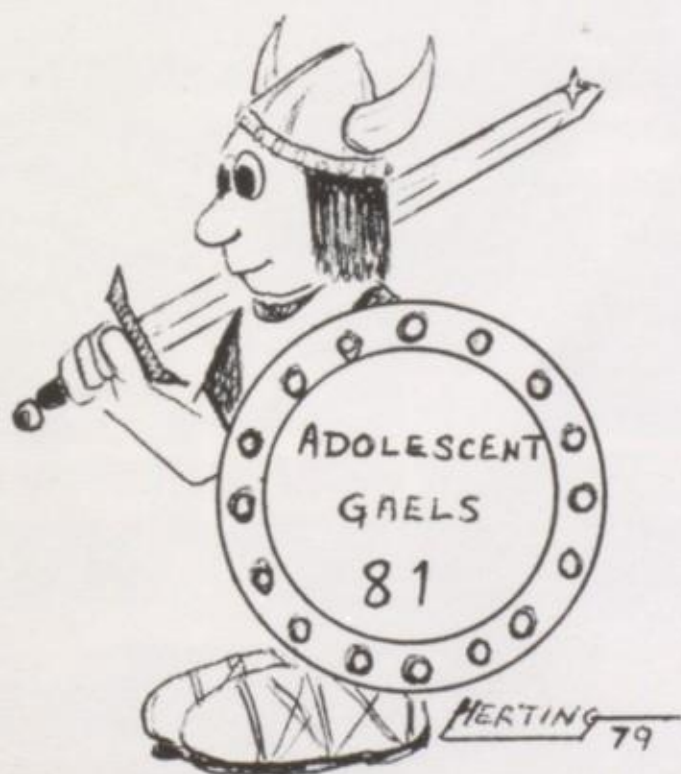

On November second and third, the sophomore class of '81 ordered their school rings. Carefully deciding between class or school design, gold or silver, birthstone or onyx. Knowing there's only one chance to get the right one.

After choosing the ring that will last the balance of your high school years, you have only one last problem—how to pay for it.

1. We all know badminton takes good form. Sophomore Brad Van Dam shows his.
2. "Our Gael is growing up".
3. Spending a quiet moment by herself, sophomore Lisa Little smiles the "Mona Lisa" smile.
4. Inseparable, Jerry Jesperson and his steady Cindy Flynn are pictured together as usual.

A sigh of relief . . . . .

Lunchtime at D.H.S. is a time of audible relief. After four grueling, draining, sometimes boring classes . . . a break . . . time to re-fuel, socialize and relax before the prompting of the school bell and fifth period. Seniors and Juniors disappear to sites unknown while Sophomores and Freshmen are left to fight over the last french fry at the school cafeteria.

Freshmen don't seem to mind staying on campus, "School's FUN!" but Sophomores who are always too young or too old to do the things they want, do mind, "lots."

1. Making faces comes easy to Sophomore Jerry Hoxie.
2. It takes a lot of hard work to get through D.H.S. and Kim Spear gives us an example of this.
3. Bobby Langenhuizen and Laura Willoughby show Sophomore class spirit at a lunchtime rally.
4. An unknown figure displays typical D.H.S. courage as Judy Knight Along with others hold him down while someone else pokes his finger.

Around the World ...

Built at Linda Reichles house, this year's sophomore float was titled "A World Of Their Own" based on "It's A Small World".

The float featured a white castle surrounded by sophomores dressed in different styles from around the world.

It was an effort that requires the help and co-operation of the total class and because of this requirement the class became a more "together" group—this is the real plus of Homecoming.

1. Sophomore Cathy Fieler concentrates during class.

2. Sophomores give their all during their homecoming rally.
3. Scott Cameron shows us that school is not only for studying but for cleaning as well.
4. Mike Mauro "hams it up" in order to impress Sophomore Melanie Hart.
5. Biology is a "popular" class among sophomores. Shown here is Dave Schwartz "enjoying" it.
6. Rocking out to the music of The Rock Group Trax is Sophomore Ann Gaynor.

$1,000 Dollar Goal

The Sophomores have made money this year!!! Their goal was to have at least 1,000 dollars by the end of their sophomore year.

To accomplish their goal the sophomores sponsored a dance in November which was a big money maker, though the band was not the strongest point.

In December the sophomores sold gift checks. The class had already made some money from an October candy sale, and along with the money already mentioned, the class of '81 was 430.00 dollars ahead.

Whether the goal of 1,000 dollars will be reached is not known as this article is being published—but all implications are positive for the sophomore class to at least get close to their goal.

1. Concentration is the name of the game, as Chris Cahill prepares a microscopic slide.
2. Taking a breather between classes, we see sophomores Rick Brower and Hope Raiger.
3. Chatting in the Science office Pattie Heir takes a quick time-out for this picture.
4. Kevin Donahue seems to be enjoying himself while Monica Morales pops the balloons up his shirt.
5. D.H.S. holds a lot of promising artists, one being student Tony Campanale, who displays his pencil drawing of Rock Star Ted Nugent.
6. School can be a drag, but sophomore Mark Sapota seems to have found a happy moment.
7. Showing off a large investment is sophomore Aaron Harmon.
8. Passing the time during lunch is Jim Tolle talking with a fellow classmate.

OFFICERS

Suzzane Ismail - Treasurer

Sandy Ferreira - Secretary

Danee Bugna - Vice President

Jason Braga - President

Being fresh faces on campus, with none of the bad habits of their upperclassmen is an advantage that the freshmen have. Being able to use this advantage is something the class of '82's officers have been trying to do.

President Jason Braga, and his fellow officer: Vice President Danee Bugna, Sec. Sandy Ferreria and Treas. Suzanne Ismail, were not afraid to get in-involved during Homecoming—or try to put on an after Basketball Dance, or get their class involved in other fund-raisers.

They have done this by meeting weekly with their adviser, Mr. Banuat, to discuss different happenings on campus and to look for ways of helping the class. This time is well spent and in the long run, these new faces will be old veterans.

Proficiency Testing: It's the law . . . . .

Students "planning to graduate" after June of 1980, BE PREPARED! Graduation requirements have been amended. Classes graduating in 1981 and 1982 will be required, (along with 220 units of credit), to pass proficiency tests in Language Arts/English, Mathematics, and Physical and Employment Education. The upcoming class of 1983 and beyond must prove themselves proficient in all of the above and three other areas including, Social Studies, Consumer and Health Education. It seems as if a student's work is never done!

1. When it gets really hot out, many students can be found studying outdoors, like freshman Steve Souza.
2. "A young Gael is better than no Gael."
3. Having fun in a class competition is Dennis Mitchell and Lee Merritt.
4. Class time is not taken-up with all busy work, there are times to think about "things," as Robin Lambell and Linda Wallis show here.

Making money

Money is never long from the minds of enterprising, far-sighted, self-fending students. It certainly isn't forgotten by the class of '82 whose officers are wisely preparing for future years.

They held many fundraisers which included a sesame seed guessing contest, coupon books sale and an attempt to co-sponsor the Christmas Sno-Ball. On January Fifth they sponsored the cancelled Sno-Ball Band "Fusion" for the first dance of the new year. While Fusion was "excellent," school interest was in hibernation, and the Freshman class lost $130.00.

1. Pep talks come easy to coach Bill Young, who is telling quarterback John Kulak a thing or two.
2. Enjoying his combo during the lunch-break is Ron Omstead.
3. Getting into a deep session of listening is student Linda Riley.
4. Decorating the school at 5:00 a.m. are Laura Diaz and Tammy Woods.

Homecoming: Getting It Together . . .

Being involved is what spirit is all about and the Freshman class of '82 could teach upperclassmen a thing or two on the subject. According to Mr. "B", Freshman class advisor, their success was due to the enormous support -of the entire class who, "got involved, really involved" with building, decorating and actively making Homecoming spirited and a lot of fun.

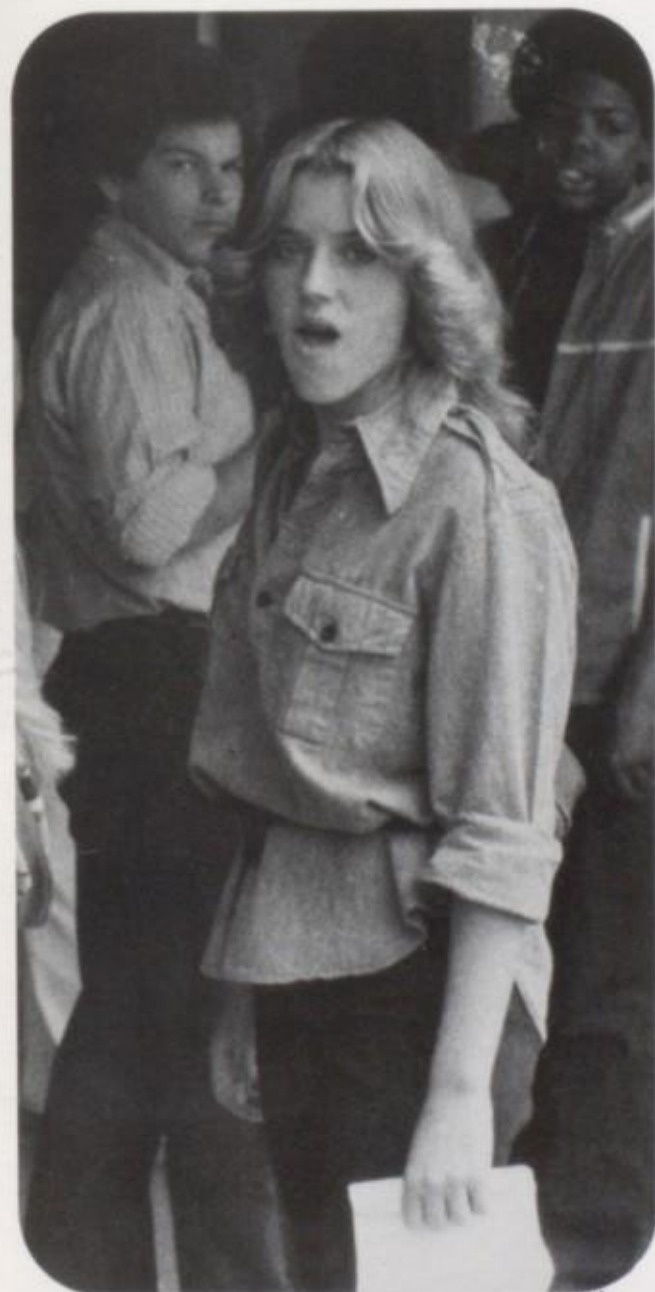

Controversy arose when, nearing the week of Homecoming, it was discovered that the theme of the spirit week cheerleaders and that of the float itself conflicted. It was too close to Homecoming to change either cheerleader outfits of the float's theme, and also too expensive. The Freshmen solved the problem by combining the two, (Snow White and Winnie the Pooh) in their class skit.

Snow White played the damsel in distress while Winnie the Pooh played the prince in shining armor, as he outsmarted the villain—Cal High's Grizzly Bear. Now that's what's known as "getting it together".

Frosh and Friday nights . . .

Friday nights aren't really looked forward to as much by the freshman class, as compared to the upperclassmen.

Approaching high school in the family wagon for the big Friday night game or dance, with mom and dad dropping you off, can be embarrassing, but it is something that everyone goes through. This lack of transportation seems to be the problem that keeps most freshmen indoors on Friday nights.

But on interviewing some freshmen at DHS, they say that they look forward to Friday nights because they can stay up late, be with friends, and sleep in on Saturdays.

1. Right in the middle of their freshman class skit we see Dave Hurler, Steve Reynolds, Dennis Mitchell, David Herlich, and John Miley.
2. Cheering their class on is the "Freshmen Rooting Section."

CAMPUS ACTIVITIES

Raising Dublin's Spirit

Yell, Scream, and Shout—the basic requirements needed to participate at a 1978 Dublin High rally. A good percentage of the school seemed interested enough to attend this year. Credit is due to a winning football team that people were willing to support.

Competition between classes proved to be very tense during certain contests. This was particularly true during Homecoming between the Juniors and Seniors.

The Freshman Class was always well represented. Sophomores and Juniors seemed to capture the candy for being victorious during the "Battle Cry", most often. The class of '79's turn-out was smaller than the rest.

Cheerleaders

Togetherness is bliss

S.P.I.R.I.T. is spelled T.O.G.E.T.H.E.R. at D.H.S. this past year. Combine the two words spirit and together, and they equal victory.

This combination was brought about this year for the first time ever, at the urging of "Spirit Advisor", Jay Howarth. With the varsity cheerleaders and letter girls working as a unit, practicing together, performing together, and getting along together, the results were "together". A superior rating at this past summer cheerleading camp—and of course first place at the Omega Rally, this area's biggest cheerleading competition.

It has been a banner year for both squads. DHS is proud of all the time and work that these ladies have given.

Kicking up their heels

Dancing their way to a third place finish, out of more than 20 schools during half time of the Contra Costa/Alameda All-Star game, was the highlight of this year's song girls squad.

Under the direction of their leader, senior Lisa Martinez, the song girls arranged dance routines for the football and basketball games that were spirited and spirit raising. The six girls that participated will be remembered, as they will surely remember this year themselves.

1st place finish

Not wanting to be outdone by the varsity squad of cheerleaders and lettergirls, this year's JV cheerleading squad had their moment of triumphant at the Livermore Basketball Tourney, walking away with the first place spirit trophy for JV squads.

This accomplishment was in character for a squad that worked very hard at all the JV football and basketball games to get the smaller crowds yelling in support of our DHS teams. Some of these girls will be back cheering next year on the varsity squad, and this year's good effort will prove valuable.

Amador game highpoint ...

While the JV cheerleading squad was vocalizing to get the crowd behind the team, the JV Letter Girls were yelling, dancing, and climbing in the stands to yell along with and encourage the crowd to cheer.

This display of sacrifice paid off game after game as the crowds got louder, climaxing in the Amador game where the JV crowd was noisier than the average varsity crowd.

The JV Letter Girls were also award winners, taking an excellent rating with them from cheerleading camp at Santa Cruz. This was not an easy accomplishment.

Having been selected while still in eighth grade (the end of the year) helped this year's frosh cheerleaders get organized and work out their routines. This also allowed them the opportunity to go to cheerleading camp in Santa Cruz.

Freshmen and Sophomores ruled the floor at this year's dances. The Junior and Seniors who attended the dances would usually not stay the entire time but would slowly disappear, mentioning parties or other commitments.

The biggest sponsor of dances are the classes. Most dances were held after football games, as they got the better turnouts.

BAND AND CHOIR PARTICIPATE

They do it for the school. The 1978-1979 Dublin High School Marching Band decided to perform at the football games instead of participating in the Northern California Parade Circuit.

Putting together a halftime show requires a lot of work and time. The members not only have to know their music, but their position on the field.

Parades are in the band's itinerary. They were led in parades by Drum Major Jim Wills or Assistant Drum Major Alan Waugh.

CHOIR

An everyday affair

8:05 A.M. in the main conference room in the principal's office is humming with DHS gossip and student business. It's called a "meeting" of the Executive Council, the executive branch of our student government.

This group is comprised of: presidents from each class (or another rep. if he/she cannot come), elected student body officers, and the president's appointees. According to President John Amador, this year's group was, "the most progressive and best ever."

Preparing for the Legislative Council meetings is a major item of business. The Legislative Council is made up of one elected member from each 2nd period class throughout the school. The Executive Council presents items and discusses things with the Legislative members. Interested students then get the chance to find out how our schools money is being spent, and if it is for the benefit of the students. The Legislative Council makes all decisions that cost more than $50.00, and act on all decisions affecting the school at large.

A very exclusive group ...

An exclusive group made up of experienced dramaticists and sensitive people, comprise the group known as the Thespian Club (and that's pronounced with a "P" not a "B").

A Thespian must have accumulated a minimum of ten points, earned through participation in staging, and general dramatic performances. They must also have passed initiation.

The club meets bi-weekly under the supervision of Mr. Olander and has had no fundraisers or money accredited to its account. Basically it is an honorary club that gives members priority in any school production.

Drama Club gets stage experience ..

DHS's Drama club, a fluctuating 20-25, met weekly in the drama room, under the supervision of Ms. Trotter or Mr. Olander.

The club grossed little over $100 in fundraisers which included bake sales and candy sales. Proceeds were spent on group excursions and productions.

Members had an opportunity to experience plays performed by amateur and professional acting troupes. They also do their own producing, managing, acting, scenery, lighting, make-up and costume design, publicizing and directing.

Anyone was eligible to join.

Student trade ...

Originally designed to counteract the bitterness of youth after World War Two, Foreign Exchange gives high school students the chance to experience the lives of other cultures by sending them to host families in other countries.

According to Mrs. Hazen, student counselor, students must be between fifteen and eighteen years of age with a good record of academic achievements to be eligible to participate in this program.

DHS student sent to France ...

Combined with the German Club to form the International Club, the French Club also functions separately.

Meeting biweekly, Thursday afternoons with language teacher, Mr. Ruley, the French Club of about twenty, held fundraisers which included a Dancethon and selling stationery.

The club planned to send one student to France this summer.

Advised by professional photographer and teacher, Mr. Steve Honett, the Photo Club raised money through candy sales and raffling-off prizes like a 110 camera and a family portrait.

The purpose of the club is to help pay for chemicals and equipment used during the day in regular classroom curriculum.

Brewing-up interest at DHS ...

"The purpose of the Art Club was to promote interest in art at Dublin High," explained Ms. Ermak, Art teacher and Club advisor.

The Club sponsored shows, built the stage sets for the Spring play and helped open the new Dublin Library with art exhibits from D.H.S. art classes.

The club with approximately fifteen members, met biweekly on Thursdays.

A Dublin High tradition ...

The idea originating from the class of '77, Easter Bunnies have now become a Dublin High tradition. The class of '77 were Easter Bunnies for four years at DHS, leaving the tradition open after their graduation.

A controversy arose last year between the senior class of '78 and the junior class of '79, both petitioning to take over and continue the tradition. The juniors were given the fundraiser based on the fact that they petitioned for it first.

This year is the second year that the class of '79 have been Easter Bunnies. The annual fundraiser takes place about the first week in April. The Bunnies take orders for and deliver the Easter candy, while dressed up in their bunny costumes on the day of delivery.

This year, the class of '79 will graduate and once again leave the tradition to be carried on by either the three remaining classes, or incoming freshmen.

Campus life

Back to people . . .

Some of the parts . . .

We usually look at the activities section in the very traditional way it has been presented so far. The "planned" events and activities, the cheerleading squads and the band, choir and clubs are important to picture and talk about. There is no doubt that the success of our school spirit is directly related to their efforts. But the yearbook staff felt strongly that a real look at the "activities" at DHS should encompass all the things we do.

There is a truism that most people can agree is true—that without all the pieces you can never have the whole. Therefore, the next few pages are a look at the "other" activities at Dublin High.

The little things, like talking to a friend, smiling for the yearbook photographer, walking to class, musing about life and our place in this crazy world. It's just plain goofing around, or freezing in the morning before class. It's the look of surprise when the flash goes off. It's sitting with a friend, or doing homework. It's kicking back and being an "observer" and not a participant. It's all of this and more. But most of all, it is a look at the people. After all, without people there is no need for this, or any yearbook.

CLIPPINGS ...

In keeping with our theme, Scrapbook, we are giving these two pages in the activities section to be used by "you" as paste-up pages for any special photos, newspaper clippings or other scraps of Memorabilia that will help you remember this school year. It can also be used for an autograph page for that very special someone.

"Where's the picture of the sophomore float?"

"You want it when?!?!?"

It's almost a certainty that the person who uttered those woeful words was a member of our 1978-79 yearbook staff.

Putting together a yearbook is an insane task that requires time, imagination, sacrifice, and the ability to overcome "panic", trying to meet those all-to-soon deadlines.

Behind the scenes (and we do our best to hide as much as possible), there are the crazy editors, the exasperated advisor, the not always punctual photographers and the "are you kidding, this is due tomorrow?", yearbook staff. Yes, these are the people who put the yearbook together.

Our yearbook, this year, started last spring with a few unsuspecting members of the staff getting hood-winked into figuring out this year's theme and division sections. A few from this group were then conned into helping take down senior names during the summer senior portrait sessions. Then in September, after a few weeks of learning yearbook "skills" and coding, the new staff got put to work on the "serious stuff."

We started this year with a commitment that we would improve on last year's book. We realized that some people wanted more autograph pages. We realized that black background pages for class sections did not allow for students to sign next to their pictures. We were aware that it was not good enough to just have headlines for our double page spreads, but that good journalism required good copy. We realized all of this and more, and felt a real obligation to put out the best yearbook that we were capable of. Which brings us to the reality of yearbook life, which sounds something like this.

"Does anybody know the names of the frosh Spirit Week Cheerleaders?"

"Where's the picture of the sophomore float?"

"Have we got back the picture of the Royal Court, yet?"

"How do you spell her name, anyway?"

"How are we going to meet this deadline?"

Working to meet those deadlines, chasing down names and shooting last minute pictures, all of this was part of our crazy world this past year. But it was worth it. Because the last page was finally turned in, and the book finally arrived, and then like the rest of you, we now get to enjoy our DHS yearbook.

Hard work, equals success. . .

Hard work and long hours by Dublin High's principal Mr. Bob Hagler and his assistants Mr. Richard Parks, Mr. Tom Davis, and Mr. Don Seaver, were major factors in the conclusion of another successful year. Helping them in their tasks were our secretaries, who were busy with everything from typing to filing, and in one instance, organizing the money matters for various clubs. Not to be forgotten, our counselors helped out many students with such things as scheduling conflicts and college scholarships. We include in this group the business department, whose students learned the values and skills needed for jobs, during school and after graduation.

1. Helping students work out scheduling conflicts during mill is just one of the many things counselors like Mr. Ron Thompson do.
2. In order to keep things running smoothly, Principal Bob Hagler spends much of his time in his office, sorting through piles of papers.

At our school there are certain courses that are required by law that a student must take to graduate. They are designed to broaden your mind and to help you in your future. We are required to take, 1 yr of Math, 1 yr of Science, 4 yrs of Social Studies, and 3 yrs of English. Along with all that work, we are required to take 3 yrs of PE. This course has become more popular with the students since it turned co-ed last year.

1. The trials and tribulations of teaching a PE class are obvious in this picture of Don Nelson, as he tries to keep warm supervising his volleyball class.
2. Working in the mill, Ms. Dow uses a free moment to relax.
3. While working on a student's paper, Ms. Zachritz still finds time to smile.
4. Organizing material is a never ending job for Ms. Read.
5. Watching a softball game in the morning mist, is PE instructor, Ms. Shoemaker.
6. Examining the eye-light-reflexes of Kathy Hio, is science teacher Mr. Honnett.

Lifetime skills . . .

Although they are generally not given much credit, these five elective departments are very important to many students at DHS. Not only creative skills, but lifetime occupations can be learned from these classes. For example, classes in Home Economics range from Low-Calorie Cooking to Needlecraft. The Art Department develops creative talents in painting, sculptures, jewelry, and photography. Music is taken out of the classroom when students perform in band reviews and concerts; and finally, both the Foreign Languages and Industrial Arts develop skills that students can use far beyond their four years at Dublin High School. Clearly, then the elective classes are not merely fun classes, but important ones as well.

1. Teachers also have their leisure time activities as Mr. Joe Banuat of the art department demonstrates.
2. Waiting in mill can also be frustrating for teachers, as Ms. Patricia Ermak watches the students sign up for art classes.
3. Gazing at a project, Mr. John McDonald works in one of the many interesting occupational classes in the Industrial Arts Department.

A change of direction

The yearbook staff, on behalf of the students, faculty and administration, would like to wish the very best of luck and good health to Ms. Kathy (Ryan) Trotter, one of Dublin's best english teachers, who resigned at the end of the first semester, and Mr. Harry Sweet, our band director, who surprised everyone in April with his announced resignation and career change. We'll miss you both...

6. Being questioned, is Mr. Dave Blasquez, Safety Ed. instructor.

Success from many ...

Many people contribute their energies to keep this school in working order. Most people credit the administration and faculty. But few give any credit to the others who help this school function. The people who work in the cafeteria and the custodians work to feed us and help keep our campus clean.

There are other people who go unnoticed such as the librarians, and the people in the Career Center. We don't realize how valuable they are in helping us decide our future. One section of the faculty that usually goes unrecognized are the Special Ed. teachers. They spend their time teaching various skills to emotionally and physically disabled students. Dublin High is what it is because of these dedicated people, and the good job they do.
